The Best Places to Watch the Super Bowl Across America

By THE SI STAFF
January 25, 2019

Let's face it: most of us aren't going to Atlanta to watch Super Bowl LIII at Mercedes-Benz Stadium on February 3. But that's OK, because there are plenty of better, more affordable ways to watch the big game right where you live, and they don't require hosting a group of rowdy, hungry friends or schlepping over a friend's house to make small talk with strangers for four hours. Our friends at Yelp have compiled a list of the top sports bars and restaurants across the U.S. that rank as the best places to watch the Super Bowl, from Hawaii to New Jersey and everywhere in between.

To assemble the list, Yelp research experts scoured the site's database to identify restaurants with a large number of reviews mentioning the words "Super Bowl" and "football" and ranked those spots using a number of factors, including the total volume and ratings of reviews mentioning the relevant keywords. To ensure geographic diversity of the list, we've limited the list to two restaurants per metro area.

Came here with my coworkers and needed a place to watch the Texans game. This place is awesome if you want to watch sports. They labeled all their TVs of the respective games they are playing and it helped pick your seats accordingly.

Service was great and food was awesome. I wanted to make my ow...
